DISTINCTIVE DINING ROOMS

Formal dining room or cozy dining alcove? Both break out of the furniture mold when you choose fine built-in cabinetry to give the dining area in your home real panaché. Forget the clichés. A breakfront or buffet created with built-in cabinetry brings personalized style and function to a new level. Greater selection, higher quality and features furniture does not offer are yours. Below are just a few ideas for creating a formal or informal dining area that will be the pride of your home and the envy of your guests.

- Use cabinetry components to design a banquette or booth for a breakfast area. Seats created using cabinetry can feature tops that open for linen or paperware storage. Complement your banquette with a matching free-standing pie safe for additional storage and style.
- Choose from a variety of glass door inserts for a fabulous built-in buffet. Clear, camed or etched patterns let your treasured china and crystal sparkle through. Textured patterns can obscure contents while adding character to the design.
- Slide-out shelving in base cabinets makes for easy access to china and serving pieces.
- Line divided drawers with special cloth to keep your silver tarnish-proof.
- Use furniture style legs, decorative appliques, panels and other options to create a furniture appearance.
- Use tall cabinets with hanging rods or wide drawers for linen storage.
- Match or complement your kitchen cabinetry with built-in dining furniture.
